

Sharon is a local speech and language therapist. She worked in the UK for a few years and has since been working at schools in the Upper Highway area. She provides therapy for developmental language delays, Specific Language Impairment, language processing difficulties, articulation and phonological delay, stuttering as well as phonological awareness, reading comprehension and spelling.

Sharon is passionate about early intervention and helping children improve their communication skills so they can socialize, make friends and learn at school without any barriers. She also has a special interest in stuttering and has training in Palin-Parent-Child Interaction therapy.

A child has a better prognosis if any problems are identified early and treated early, as the pathways in the brain can adapt and change more readily before 5 years of age.
